HOSPITALITY Hospitality means receiving guests generously: my house is your house! Abraham and Sarah, the parents of us all, receive the Lord and get a wonderful response: "You will have now a son." Sarah laughs and then produces Isaac. Mary and Martha receive Jesus. Like Mary and Martha, we bask quietly in God's presence, and despite concern, should avoid over-fussiness in our works. When we open ourselves to God, we share hospitality and the gift of God's son. How do you receive the Lord?

Moments of Mercy

What does mercy look like through the eyes of another person? We know how we would like people to act with mercy toward us, but what is mercy to a family member, our coworker, or the person we walk by every day? For each of us, there are particular things that are meaningful to us and speak to our need for mercy. In spite of these differences, we are still able to minister to one another, because the love of God surpasses our differences and draws us all into the one Body of Christ. In order to show others the love of God through acts of mercy and compassion, we need to be attentive to their needs and the way in which God is working in their lives.

From USCCB.org

1. Volunteer some of your time this month at a place where you will meet a variety of people—for instance, a local community center, a nursing home, a food bank, or a homeless shelter. Though everyone might have different needs, all are searching for the love and mercy of God. Reflect on the way your need for God's love is similar to their need for God's love.

2. Spend some time talking with a younger or older relative or friend. Sometimes we ignore those whose perspective on life is different or far removed from ours (being much younger or much older than us). Listen to what is important to them, recognizing God's love acting in their life and the way in which you can best act with mercy and compassion toward them.
