28th Sunday in Ordinary time, Year C
October 9, 2016

PRAISE AND THANKS Naaman the Syrian leper-general washes clean, following the instructions of God's prophet Elisha. Jesus heals the lepers by his own Word and a foreigner returns to give thanks. Naaman hauled away dirt from the Holy Land to make a holy place. The healed Samaritan leaves praising God and full of faith in the Messiah. For us Christians, God's presence is not confined but is wherever we gather to praise the Lord. There we are nourished and healed in the Eucharist, our thanksgiving. How do you praise God?

Moments of Mercy

This Jubilee of Mercy is not the first time that Pope Francis has emphasized the need for the faithful to live their lives in a witness to the mercy of God. In Evangelii Gaudium, or The Joy of the Gospel, Pope Francis highlights the connection between mercy and continually spreading the Good News of Jesus Christ in our everyday lives. In paragraph 24 of Evangelii Gaudium, the Church is called to be "missionary disciples" as an "evangelizing community" seeking "to show mercy, the fruit of its own experience of the power of the Father's infinite mercy" (EG, no. 24). Our faith is not our own; it is ours as members of the Body of Christ, who continually testify to the truth of the Gospel through all of our actions. Just as mercy is an overarching theme for Pope Francis's pontificate and his life, we are all called to make mercy the theme of our life. From usccb.org

1. Throughout this month, read Evangelii Gaudium which can be found at www.usccb.org. Take note of the various places that the mercy we show others is described as a reflection of God's merciful love and compassion.
2. Share your faith with someone else. This is somewhat intimidating, but it can be done in a variety of ways since all of our words, actions, and lives should reflect the joy of God's great gift of mercy and love. Even something as simple as stating that you are a Christian can help someone recognize the connection between your actions of compassion and your faith in Jesus Christ.
